

Trip Necessities British Columbia, Canada

Fall | Winter | Spring (October - April)

What to expect:

These months generally experience some cool and wet weather, with day time temps in the low to mid teens (°C). Occasionally, we can experience 20°C days in October/November and March/April.

What to bring:

- Warm layers (i.e. synthetics, fleece and/or wool work best, avoid cotton if possible)
- Good waterproof rain gear
- A one-piece long underwear outfit works great as a first layer
- Insulated boots, especially when on the boat (preferably waterproof)
- Sunglasses, warm toque, wool fishing gloves
- If Steelheading, expect to wear 3-4 layers during winter

Tip: It's better to be overdressed and be able to shed a layer, than be cold and not have any extra layers to put on.

Summer (May - September)

What to expect:

The summer months typically offer warm and dry weather, but mornings and evenings can be on the cooler side. Daytime temps can exceed 30°C but mornings can be in the low to mid teens (°C).

What to bring:

- A couple of warmer layers
- T-shirts, shorts, sandals, hat, sunglasses, and sunscreen
- Long sleeve shirts and long quick-dry pants are an excellent option if one wishes to avoid sun
- A light waterproof rain jacket and rain pants

Tip: You don't always notice the strength of the sun while on the water. Remember to apply your sunscreen a minimum of 30 minutes before heading out on the water, and re-apply throughout the day.
